Party Harmony.

Washington, January 12.—(P)— Democrats of the nation were called upon tonight by their leaders to re-dedicate themselves to the principles of Jackson and Jefferson, put aside factional strife, and present a united front in the forthcoming presidential campaign.

At a Jackson day dinner here—the first of its kind since 1920—more than 3,300 men and women heard, and in turn cheered, various spokesmen for the party. It was a "harmony" feast, arranged by the democratic national committee, and drew to the ballroom of the Mayflower hotel nearly all of the men to be discussed as presidential possibilities at the national convention which the executive committee earlier in the day had decided would be held at Houston, Texas on June 26.

Smith of New York was not present, but he sent a message calling for a united party and close adherence to Jacksonian principles. Counseling early drafting of the party's platform, the governor said it should apply these principles to each specific problem of the day. Reading of the message and mention of Smith's name brought the thrill to its feet, cheering.

An oration of equal proportions greeted Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, who in the course of his speech brought up the prohibition question.

Davis on Prohibition.
Ritchie's remarks prompted John W. Davis, the party's standard bearer in 1924, who was toastmaster, to observe that in his opinion a candidate's views on prohibition cannot be taken as a test of his fitness to represent the party for the presidency.

Ritchie called for settlement of the prohibition problem by self-determination and home rule, this appeal bringing some scattered though some what prolonged applause.

He also inveighed against religious intolerance and brought applause with references to Governor Smith as the man whom the masses sensed as "an authentic voice, not only of the democratic party, but of the democracy of the nation, too."

After Governor Ritchie had made a plea for settlement of the prohibition question by home rule, Mr.
Davis reminded his audience that there were three great camps on the prohibition question: Those for state rule; those for federal rule and those who believe that the present law was an experiment that was on trial.

"I am not so certain," he said,
"that this third class is not numerically the largest."
"And we must remember that all these are represented in the democratic party. With this in mind I

Dr. W. L. Gilbert Elected Member Of County Board

James W. Maddox Comes Second in Fulton Commission Contest and William Dunn, Jr., Is Third.

WINNER RECEIVES
MAJORITY OF 3,017

Gilbert Takes Lead in County Precincts and Is Never Headed; Little Interest in Election.

Dr. William Gilbert Thursday was elected Fulton county commissioner to succeed the late Charles G. Turner, receiving 4,452 votes out of a total of 5,887 cast in the special election, according to figures compiled by The Constitution.

James W. Maddox, runner-up, received 1,538 votes, and William Dunn, Jr., third entrant in the triangular race, came third with 297. Dr. Gilbert's total of 3,017 voters more than both his opponents received, represents 75.6 per cent of all the votes cast.

Maddox led Dr. Gilbert in three precincts, fifth ward "A," eighth ward
"B" and Collins district "B," according to the figures compiled Thursday night. Mr. Dunn failed to carry a single precinct.

Only 38 of the 39 precincts were included in the returns. No report was received from Grogan's district.
Despite the fact that the registration list showed that 53,067 citizens were qualified to cast ballots less than 6,000 exercised their right. There was little interest shown in the campaign.

Dr. Gilbert is a former member of the commission, having served from 1915 to 1922.

Country precincts gave Dr. Gilbert an early lead, which he never surrendered when city precincts began reporting.

Statement by Gilbert.
Dr. Gilbert issued a statement in which he thanked his friends for their confidence and support and declared he would give the county his best service during his tenure of office.

"I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for the confidence and trust imposed in me by my friends throughout the county," Dr. Gilbert said.

"Their loyalty has resulted in my election, and I wish to pledge to the citizens of Fulton county my best efforts during the coming months in obtaining a better and more efficient government. I am gratified with the result of the election, and feel that a grave responsibility rests on me because of the overwhelming vote of confidence which was cast. It seems to me that the vote is a ratification of my former record of service, but I promise to try to improve it this time."

Political Pressure Hinted.
Hint that political pressure had been exerted to secure the support of Fulton county employees for Dr. Gilbert was contained in a statement by Mr. Maddox following the election.

MANIAC KIDNAPS, ATLANTA SCHOOLS SLAYS YOUNG GIRL GIVEN $2,948,050 IN MICHIGAN TOWN BY FINANCE BOARD

Mutilated Body of Tiny Victim Found in Creek;
Posse Hunt Fugitive
Killer.

Flint, Mich., January 12.—(P)—The mutilated body of Dorothy Schneider, five years old, kidnapped from her home in Mt. Morris, near here today, was discovered in a creek three miles from the Schneider home tonight.

The body had been dissected with a sharp knife, apparently a razor. Dr.
R. Brasie, coroner, who examined the body, expressed the fear that the deed was accomplished by an escaped maniac from the state hospital for the insane at Pontiac. An extensive man-hunt was begun immediately.

The child was abducted at noon today, a block from her home, as she was returning from kindergarten.
The body was found in a creek three miles from the Schneider home tonight.

Mother Witnesses Kidnaping.
The mother, Mrs. Mabel Schneider, 24, who witnessed the abduction, told police the kidnaper drove up to the creek alongside the child in a dilapidated automobile, grabbed her and drove rapidly away, the mother, who had been standing on her porch awaiting the return of her daughter, ran screaming to the nearest police station where the affair was reported.

Officials traced the machine on a road west of Mt. Morris to a spot adjacent to a farm operated by Archie Bacon. The farmer told officers that a car answering the description of the kidnaper's machine became mired in the mud and that he saw the driver get out of the machine carrying a bundle and walk towards the creek. The driver returned two hours later, without the bundle, according to the farmer, who said he assisted him to get the machine out of the mud.

Police on arriving at the creek designated found the child's body.

Kidnaper Used Sedan.
The kidnaper was described as about 30 years old, of medium height, light complexion and wearing a light suit and dark overcoat. His machine was a sedan.

Within a short time after the body was found the Michigan state police began drawing a cordon around the district several hundred miles in circumference. Every spot of the troopers' attention was directed to the description of the kidnaper and at 8 o'clock tonight all highways were under rigid patrol.

It was planned to draw the cordon in toward the scene of the crime in the hope that the kidnaper would be caught in the dragnet before he could make his way out of the district.

Meantime a sheriff's posse assisted by citizens scoured the country for traces of the fugitive, and local police in every city in Michigan action was taken to settle with the kidnaper and the kidnaper. The machine was an '07 model Dodge sedan.

Posse Finds Clothing.
Several hours after the finding of the body, officers of the citizens posse reported finding remnants of the child's clothing in a woods near Mt.
Morris.

Chief Seward said the torso was found stuffed under an ice block in the creek, but that a portion of the child's body had not been recovered.
The medical superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Pontiac, who is about 40 miles from Mt.
Morris, said the meeting agreed to declare there was little possibility that an escaped inmate from that institution was responsible for the deed, as he had not supposed.

No one has escaped there for more than three weeks, he said, and none of the missing patients answer the description of the fugitive.

10 REBELS KILLED
BY MARINE BOMBS

Air Attack Reported at Nicaraguan Town Where
U. S. Force Was Ambushed.

Washington, January 12.—(P)—The navy department received dispatches
today from Rear Admiral David F.
Sellers, commander of the special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters, saying that marine corps planes on January 11 dropped ten bombs on Sandino's forces, killing 10 of his men.

The attack was made at Laguna Vista where marines were ambushed January 1. Admiral Sellers also reported that a column is moving from Quilali to San Albino.

MARINE PLANE LANDS AT MIAMI, FLA.
Miami, Fla., January 12.—(P)— Completing a non-stop flight from Washington in exactly 10 hours, Major
L. M. Bourne and two companions piloting a marine corps airplane to Nicaragua for service with United States forces, landed here at 4:25 o'clock, eastern standard time, this afternoon.

The flight to Managua, capital of the Central American country, will be resumed Saturday morning over the same course, mostly over water, that Major E. H. Brainerd, head of marine corps aviation forces, recently took in his unsuccessful attempt to make a similar hop without a stop. He was forced down by head winds at Tela, Honduras, but reached his destination
the next day.

Accompanied by Lieutenant J. F.
Plachta, radio man and relief pilot,
and Sergeant B. F. Belcher, mechanic, Major Bourne left Anacostia naval station at Washington this morning at 6:25 o'clock. Their flight in the big tri-motor, Fokker, transport monoplane, which was made at an average speed of approximately 100 miles per hour, was without incident.

CATHOLICS UPHOLD BAN ON MARRIAGES.
Managua, Nicaragua, January 12.—
(P)—The ban placed on the marriage of United States marines and native girls of Nicaragua has the approval of the Catholic church.

Bishop Canute Jose, of the diocese of Granada, has issued a circular ordering priests not to celebrate such marriages since marines do not have a fixed residence, and the girls run the risk of being abandoned by their husbands, when, on account of a sudden order, they have to leave the place.

Wife Missing,
Man Is Jailed
Pending Probe

Chattanooga and Woman Companion Held as Murder Theory Is Advanced.

Chattanooga, Tenn., January 12.—
(P)—With arrest of Harry C. Neilson at Meridian, Miss., today officers here believe they are certain to clear up the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the man's wife, from whom he sought a divorce, alleging that she had eloped in March, 1922.

The divorce suit was dismissed, the presiding judge, telling Neilson to "find the woman."

Arrested with Neilson at Meridian
today was a Mrs. Frances Williams, alias Lucile Cook, whom officers said was the man's wife. The man's wife with Neilson at the time he brought suit for divorce.

City detectives who have been working on the case said Mrs. Williams told them that she was living here when that shortly after Neilson brought her here from Birmingham he asked her to accompany him on a trip to dispose of several boxes containing garbage. There, officers said she told them, he scattered along the highway from Chattanooga to Birmingham. Officers who at the instance of Mrs. Neilson's relatives have conducted an exhaustive search have been unable to find a trace of her.

LOVER SITS PRIMLY IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Pair Executed Shortly
After 11 p. m., After Last Minute Fight for Life Failed.

BY SAM LOVE.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Ossining, N. Y., January 12.—
(United News)—Ruth Brown Snyder and then Henry Judd Gray were put to death in the electric chair tonight.
While Mrs. Snyder sat in the chair, she cried, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." She repeated it three times, making it a low-voiced chant. There was a pause.

The woman who had been perfectly calm, whimpered a little, like a child.
Then her body stiffened, as the first of two applications of electricity was applied.

Preceded by Priest.
Mrs. Snyder had walked straight into the room, grotesquely, like a Joan of Arc. Father McCaffrey preceded her, carrying a crucifix.

He was reciting prayers in a low voice in Latin. Ruth kept repeating in a low, steady voice, her prayer of forgiveness.

She ended clearly, "Father, forgive me for all my sins." Then "Jesus have mercy."

She entered the death chamber at 11 p. m. At 11:01 she sat in the chair.
At 11:02 the current was turned on.
The first application was not considered sufficient. Another signal was made to Executioner Robert Elliott.
For five minutes the current raced through her body.

At 11:07 she was dead. A white table was wheeled in. Two autopsy surgeons stepped over her body and thirty seconds later the door of the autopsy room closed behind her.

Gray Enters Calmly.
The opposite door swung open again at 11:08.
Gray entered, accompanied by the huge-bodied principal keeper, Sheehy, and the Rev. Dr. Peterson, Protestant priest.

The former court salesman entered with military bearing, head erect, looking straight ahead. His lips were set slightly as he repeated after the chaplain a passage from the Bible.

Gray sat down in the chair primly.
The chaplain was reading the beatitudes. "His name is they," he repeated many times.

Death Mask Adjusted.
The double-sectioned mask, covering the eyes and mouth but exposing the nose, was adjusted.
The death cap was lowered and strapped fast, like an aviator's helmet.

Columbus, Ohio, January 12.—(P)— victims of an unidentified assailant who attacked them with a razor. While police were searching for the assailant of Miss Weaver they were notified 45 minutes later that the same man had attacked Miss Thompson.

STRANGLER FACES GALLIOWS TODAY

Winnipeg, Manitoba, January 12.—(United News.)—Earle Nelson will die on the gallows tomorrow and when the trap is sprung police of a dozen North American cities will note in their files the death of the murderer of a score of women.

"The Strangler" will die on Friday, the 13th. He will be the 13th to hang on the Manitoba scaffold and when he is marched to the gallows, he will ascend 13 steps. Nelson is an Englishman of medium height and build, 34 in his last year and there is nothing in his outward appearance to indicate that he is a killer. He has never confessed a murder, but was convicted on circumstantial evidence so convincing that the jury did not hesitate to vote the death penalty.

The crime for which Nelson is to be hanged is the murder of Mrs. Emily Patterson, killed in her home here last summer. A 16-year-old girl was similarly murdered at the same time.

HOSPITAL NEEDED FOR FEEBLE-MINDED VETS, EXPERTS SAY

Washington, January 12.—(P)—An embargo on the admission of neuro-psychiatric cases to veterans' hospitals is being carried out. Watson J. Miller, chairman of the American Legion's rehabilitation committee, today told the house veterans' committee. This indicated, he said, the present inadequacy of bureau hospitalization facilities.

Both Miller and Lieutenant Theodore Rosen, who lost an arm in the world war, agreed that the creation of a new type of institution for neuro-psychiatric cases might prove practicable.

Darrow Defends Murderer To Carry Out Son's Promise

FAMOUS ATTORNEY FULFILLS 25-YEAR-OLD PLEDGE

Montpelier, Vt., January 12.—(United News.)—A convicted murderer, almost unknown outside his home town, was defended in supreme court here today by one of the nation's most famous criminal lawyers. Remembering a promise made by his son nearly a quarter of a century ago, Clarence Darrow came here from Chicago to deliver a one-hour address in connection with the execution of the murderer of Miss Cecelia Gullivan.

For the full hour that was allowed him Darrow paced the courtroom, arguing in his inimitable manner for the establishment of a man he never had seen before.

A runaway horse accident in which a cousin of Winters was killed about 25 years ago was responsible for Darrow's appearance in court here. At that time Darrow's son, who was involved in a L.A. accident, promised the victim's mother that his father's legal services would be available at any time she might need them.

For a quarter of a century things went smoothly in the Winters family. Then last year John Winters was arrested, charged with the first-degree murder of Miss Cecelia Gullivan, who was slain on a sleeping porch at her Windsor home.

Winters was tried and found guilty, the conviction carrying an automatic penalty of death in the electric chair.

The murder of Miss Gullivan, 24-year-old, was a premeditated crime and did not result from an attempted criminal attack. Hence, he contended, it should not be supposed that the same man who attacked the nurse was the slayer of Miss Gullivan.

Cases which the state had cited in an effort to establish the guilt of Winters were described by the lawyers as "worthless." He declared he saw no analogy between them and the Winters case.

It is important to punish for murder," Darrow concluded, "but it is still more important that all the safeguards surrounding the trial be exercised."

The full bench took the case under advisement. It will be several weeks, perhaps months, before Darrow knows whether the Winters family will benefit by that promise made 25 years ago.

The murder of Miss Gullivan, 24-year-old, was a premeditated crime and did not result from an attempted criminal attack. Hence, he contended, it should not be supposed that the same man who attacked the nurse was the slayer of Miss Gullivan.

Cases which the state had cited in an effort to establish the guilt of Winters were described by the lawyers as "worthless." He declared he saw no analogy between them and the Winters case.

It is important to punish for murder," Darrow concluded, "but it is still more important that all the safeguards surrounding the trial be exercised."

The full bench took the case under advisement. It will be several weeks, perhaps months, before Darrow knows whether the Winters family will benefit by that promise made 25 years ago.

Ruth Weeps When Told Fight for Life Failed

Ossining, N. Y., January 12.—(United News.)—Ruth Snyder wept: Judd Gray sighed.

That was the reaction of the condemned pair when notified tonight that in a few hours they must go to the electric chair.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes broke the news to Gray.

"I expected nothing more," Gray said.

John J. Sheehy, head keeper, notified Mrs. Snyder.

"Ain't there anything anybody can do?" she asked. Then she began to cry.

Snyder and Gray a cursory examination. Aliens have frequently found them whole, so it was but the work of minutes to decide the neither brain nor body cells had deteriorated sufficiently to take the 2,000 volts of death.

Death Clothes Chosen.

The clothing in which the two were to die had been decided upon although oddly enough Warden Lawes had not yet selected the order in which they were to come to the chair.

Mrs. Snyder donned a one-piece, belted dress of gray, cheap black stockings, the "Tombie" Snyder loved silk and felt slippers. The dress came just below the knees and one stocking was to be rolled low or slit so that an electrocutioner could grasp the leg.

Gray wore black trousers, white shirt and felt slippers. One of the trouser legs was split to facilitate death.

When Warden Lawes was told that Justice Levy had vacated his order he went into the death house and informed Gray of the newest development.

He found the prisoner contained. "It's what I expected," Gray said. "If it's God's will it will be done."

The warden then walked on past Mrs. Snyder's cell. She was seated on a cot, the seat furniture, holding her hands before her face.

Ruth Asks Question.

She looked up when the warden went by.

"Have you any news for me?" she asked.

Lawes evaded the question because he had not yet decided on the final advice of the attorney general.

"They are talking it over in the courts now," he said and Mrs. Snyder cried silently as Lawes walked away.

Reaching his office the warden informed newspapermen he would call for the official time at about 10 minutes of 11 and exactly on the hour would instruct the death house officers to prepare the prisoners.

Big, ruddy-faced John J. Sheehy, principal keeper of the prison, finally told the warden.

"Well, Ruth, she put up a good fight for a game little girl," he said. His voice was hearty and husky, like a soldier's.

"Ain't there anything anybody can do?" asked Mrs. Snyder. She was crying.

She is not a small woman. Her body is large-boned, and when she has infrequently given way to complete grief, her very size has made the sight more appalling.

She took "Pretty Hard."

"She took it pretty hard," said Warden Lawes, who has been loathe to admit the truth of many imagined descriptions of "breakdowns" of condemned women. "She was crying like everything."

Soon after dark, the two matrons whose task it was to finish preparing the woman's body for the ceremony of death, and then to walk with her to the door of the chamber where the matrons had been outside having their pictures taken. They posed in the cold outside the warden's office, their uniforms covered by their own brown fur-trimmed coats, which tented their ample bodies.

A score of cameras were pointed at them at once, and flashlights boomed. Perhaps because they did not know what else to do, the two women, Mrs. Lucy Snyder, and Mrs. Lillian Hickey, chosen as the handmaids of death, giggled.

The crowd of photographers and all others who were not to witness or take part in the execution were then expelled from the prison grounds by order of Warden Lawes.

In the third cell of the women's section of the death house, an unpleasant ceremony then took place.

Uses Clippers on Hair.

While one of them comforted her or tried to, by assuring her that they were just going to take out a teeny bit, the other matron used the clippers on Mrs. Snyder's tawny blond hair.

Their assurances were truthful. It was necessary to clip a spot no larger than a silver dollar, just above the juncture of the spinal column and cranium, for the sure application of an electric current.

While Gray was being removed to his "last cell" tonight, he told the other nine condemned men in the death house goodbye. Gray knew the niceties of the ceremony as well as a dowager knows the etiquette of a receiving line.

He walked along the row of 10 cells with his hands, pausing at each occupied cell to grasp the hand extended through the food slot.

Two French Deputies Jailed for Sedition

Paris, January 12.—(P)—The communist deputies Marcel Cachin and Paul Vaillant-Couturier were arrested this evening on the orders of the government as they were leaving the chamber of deputies, an incident which has attracted much interest in political circles. It is expected that the legislative elections on April 22 are likely to have some repercussions from the arrests.

They had been convicted with three others of distributing propaganda to provoke disobedience among French soldiers and sailors and had been sentenced to several months' imprisonment. Cachin had served part of his term when the chamber met after the summer vacation and the house voted that he be released to take part in the deliberations of the chamber.

Earlier in the afternoon the United States district court had refused their plea for a writ of habeas corpus.

The protagonists in the last drama were Edgar F. Hazleton and Dana Wallace, attorneys for the state, and W. J. Millard and Samuel L. Miller, for Gray.

The former believed they had scored a big victory by inducing Justice Levy to sign the stay Wednesday night. Now they were in court to argue against the state's attorneys as to whether the stay was to be extended so that Mrs. Snyder could come to New York for the insurance trial, starting Friday.

Hazleton made a fiery plea for extending the stay. He said the constitutional rights of Lorraine, Mrs. Snyder's 10-year-old daughter, were being violated. Lorraine, now penniless, insurance policy.

Chaplain Enters Cells

Having gained admittance after several "Is from the commissioner of corrections, the Rev. George Murphy, chaplain of the Long Island city jail, followed her lawyers into Mrs. Snyder's cell. He was the priest who converted her to the Catholic faith, and his purpose was to prepare her to die with the solace of religion.

While the official witnesses were straggling into the prison, Samuel Hazleton, his usual church leader, was still in solemn conversation with Gray.

Mrs. Josephine Brown has strongly objected to the performance of the usual prison autopsy on the body of her daughter.

Joseph Leonardo, Mrs. Snyder's appeal counsel, was admitted to the prison. He served an official-looking document on Warden Lawes in behalf of Mrs. Brown and Andrews Brown, Mrs. Snyder's lawyers.

DEMOCRATIC FETE UPSETS CONGRESS

Washington, January 12.—(AP)—Congress had no need today for a standing-room-only sign.

Galleries of both houses showed black rows of empty chairs while the senate was getting another four hours of political nourishment out of the dry bones of tariff debates and the house dined ahead with the quarter-billion dollar interior department supply bill.

As a matter of fact, there was a larger proportion of empty chairs in the house itself than in the senate gallery. A count of noses several times showed 20 or so of its 435 members in the chamber.

Few Democrats Present.
The democratic representation was rarely more than a half dozen and on the republican side Speaker Lougworth took relaxation occasionally seated on the leader's table with heels swinging and hands in trouser pockets. A battery of managers for the bill alone appeared to be keeping track of the reading clerk's intonation of the long document.

Even word of selection of Houston, Texas, as democratic national convention city failed to stir things up "on the hill."

But while the senate committee confined itself to the tariff with now and then a spark flying as to motives of this or that senator in favoring higher rates on particular commodities, the senate naval committee laid a basis by getting the S-4 fighter out on the floor soon for free-for-all discussion.

Put Through Proposal.
On a strict party division the committee put through the administration plan for a non-political commission inquiry. The democrats several notice of a floor contest and what will happen here depends, presumably, on what the handful of republican irregulars do about it.

Negro Doomed To Die Reveals 2 Other Murders

Milledgeville, Ga., January 12.—(AP)—Garfield Fuller, Pike county negro, who is to die in the electric chair here sometime tomorrow, confessed to other slayings tonight to prison officials and a representative of the Milledgeville Telegraph.

The negro, who is to die for killing a negro woman, near Molena, told of how he killed a negro in Alabama in an attempted robbery and of killing a white man in Lake Butler, Fla., when the man frustrated him from taking his home.

Fuller said he made the confession "so that no one else will suffer for my crimes after I am gone."

Prison officials here said they would investigate the negro's story.

WOMAN SHERIFF TO FEED PRISONERS AND HIRE DEPUTY

Wesley, Ill., January 12.—(AP)—Well-to-do prisoners won't try to break jail, believes Mrs. Helen Dolder, 41, recently appointed to succeed her late husband as sheriff of DeKalb county, so she expects to remain at the jail and cook good meals for the 75 prisoners and appoint a good strong man deputy to do the outside work.

Mrs. Dolder, mother of four children, said she might carry a pistol, but was not very sure about it, and might make an arrest once in a while.

Fire Destroys Records.

Monroeville, Ala., January 12.—(AP)—Priceless records extending over a long period of years were lost today when the Monroe county courthouse, built in 1826, burned to the ground, taking to destruction suites of law-rever's offices and a dental laboratory and a drug store near by.

PARRICIDE MOVED TO COLUMBUS JAIL

Columbus, Ga., January 12.—(AP)—Parents by chopping them in the head while they were visiting him at the isolated home near Cusseta, Ga., was brought to Columbus this afternoon and placed in the Muscogee county jail.

Sheriff J. D. McGowan, of Chattahoochee county, who brought the youth here, saw "out a murder warrant before the clerk of the municipal court of Columbus, a Muscogee county court, but it was made returnable to Chattahoochee county.

The sheriff explained that he applied to Justice of the Peace A. S. Harp at Cusseta, for the warrant, but that he declined to issue it. The justice of the peace, an uncle of the prisoner and brother of the slain farmer, was quoted as having told the sheriff that he was so overcome that he did not believe he could stand the pressure of writing the warrant.

Young Harp was incarcerated in the Muscogee county jail because of inadequate facilities in the small jail at Cusseta. He will be held here, pending action by the Chattahoochee county grand jury in March.

Crazed by the fear that he would be returned to the state insane asylum at Milledgeville, where he was a inmate for more than a year, Harp chose to kill his parents in the head with an ax Wednesday morning.

Double funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Harp, Sr., will be held at Cusseta tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. They will be buried in the same grave.

PAL OF DR. FRED COOK DRAWS PRISON TERM

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 12.—(AP)—E. J. Bowen, alias A. C. Powers, of Danville, Ark., former associate of Dr. Frederick Cook, Arctic explorer, was sentenced to serve 18 months in the Ohio penitentiary when he pleaded guilty in criminal court today to a charge of checking against insufficient funds.

According to Raymond J. Kunkell, assistant prosecutor, Bowen was implicated in transactions that caused Cook to be imprisoned for resigning the mails to defraud and was sent with Cook to the Leavenworth penitentiary where he served one year. Bowen's indictment here grew out of a worthless check for $88.70 that he allegedly gave to the management of a hotel here in November, 1926.

Cupid Blocks Traffic as Pair Weds in Street

Memphis, January 12.—(AP)—Cupid blocked traffic at Memphis' busiest street intersection tonight, regardless of signal lights and blaring auto horns.

Ben Emerson, of Ripley, Tenn., and Media Mitchell, of Memphis, wanted to be married but could find no place to park their car. So Squire George Coleman was summoned on the scene. Standing beside the running board he tied the nuptial knot, then shook his fist at the frenzied line of motorists. The groom stepped into the car, his honeymoon was on, and traffic was resumed.

BIG NAVY PROGRAM BACKED BY WILBUR

Washington, January 12.—(AP)—Navy department plans for a 20-year warship construction program at an ultimate cost of approximately $3,000,000,000 were disclosed today by Secretary Wilbur before the house naval committee.

He said he was not prepared to give out details, but that the total expenditure would be about $168,000,000. He added that the administration's recently announced $725,000,000 program for 25 cruisers and 40 other fighting craft, was part of the more comprehensive plan which includes the replacement of battleships as soon as possible under terms of the Washington treaty.

Georgian Questions Wilbur.

The secretary said the navy hoped to complete the cruisers and other auxiliary craft before 1936 and then begin replacement of capital ships.

Questioned by Representative Vinson, of Georgia, senior democrat on the committee, Mr. Wilbur said that the warcraft, which the navy already has asked congress to authorize, would be necessary to provide a first-class sea force, adding that he had testified yesterday that need for additional cruisers were imperative.

Chairman Butler asked the secretary on his next appearance "to describe what a first-class navy is" and added: "You have made a statement that will shock the country when you say that the United States has not a first-class navy."

No Definite Time Set.

Representative Britten, of Illinois, senior republican committee member, questioned the secretary closely as to why the navy in submitting the $725,000,000 had not requested congress to provide for its completion within a specified time. He declared that for one he did not wish only a "paper fleet."

Wilbur replied that the navy also was anxious for the actual ships and that no completion date had been included, as requests for the money had to be submitted through the budget and that finishing the program would depend on congress providing the money.

"There is no joker," he added, "if any joker gets in, it will be in congress."

WAVE OF HOLDUPS FOLLOWS MURDER

head struck the pavement and was cut over the right eye. Lapsing into unconsciousness, Mr. Cleveland died before medical aid could be rendered within a specified time. He declared that for one he did not wish only a "paper fleet."

Police express the opinion that the filling station manager was shot with his own gun, as it was known that he kept a .38 caliber revolver in the office at all times. The gun was missing and the bullet hole in his chest apparently was made with a pistol ball of this caliber. The bullet entered just below the collar bone on the left side of his chest and went completely through the body, coming out between his shoulder blades.

No Cash Missing.
Detectives made a minute inspection of the office and reported that apparently nothing was missing. The drawers of the cash register were closed and when the clothing worn by Mr. Cleveland was searched, $22 in cash, some small change and his watch were found.

The bandits were evidently routed in their attempted robbery by Knight when he drove into the station and police believe that Cleveland was resisting their attempt to ransack the station.

No accurate description of the negroes could be given police by Knight or the negro employees, both of whom rushed to the aid of the wounded manager and paid no particular attention to the bandits. The negroes are said to have run around behind the station, down a bank and up Cain street. Allen Smith, a negro, told detectives that he saw two negroes running past his house on Howard street shortly after he heard the report of a revolver. One of the negroes had a pistol in his hand, he said.

W. H. Gregory, a white man, who was doing some carpenter work in an apartment house at 342 Jackson street, told detectives that he saw the two negroes go to the filling station but paid no attention to them. After the shot was fired he said he saw the negroes running but could give no minute description of either of them.

Inquest Is Planned.
Paul Donohoe, Fulton county coroner, said that in all probability there would be an inquest held over the body of Mr. Cleveland, but withheld definite announcement pending a complete investigation of the crime.

The station handled Watford oil products and was leased by A. E. Keith, of East Point, who employed Mr. Cleveland to operate and manage it for him. Immediately after the robbery Mr. Keith communicated with the Watford Oil company and notified the company that he had closed the filling station.

Mr. Keith told newspapermen that he knew that the station was a bad place for holdups when he leased it, approximately one month ago, but added that the holdup was the first that had occurred since he opened it.

During the past two years, five holdups have been staged at the station. Two of these have taken place since Mr. Cleveland had been working there, as he was employed at the station prior to the time Mr. Keith leased it and continued to work there in the capacity of manager.

Close friends of the dead man say that he had successfully routed two bandits on one occasion and a lone bandit on the other. Approximately a year ago a negro met his death at the filling station at the hands of another negro. The negro murder was the result of an argument between the two negroes, police say.

Officers were following the trails of the slayers throughout the day Thursday but until a late hour Thursday night no trace of them had been found. Meager descriptions furnished by the witnesses were being closely followed and every effort was being made to bring the criminals into custody.

Mr. Cleveland was 62 years of age and resided at 306 Cheney street, East Point. He returned to Atlanta from Florida approximately three months ago and became an employee at the filling station shortly afterwards. In addition to his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Lula Cleveland and Mrs. J. M. Turner, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements had not been completed late Thursday.

ORDERS FOR NEW FORDS REACH 12,000 TOTAL

Approximately $6,000,000 in sales of new Ford cars through dealers in Georgia and Alabama, representing orders for 12,000 cars, have been reported, according to L. P. Groves, manager of the Atlanta district, under which the two states come.

The cars are to be delivered through the Atlanta district Assembly of the new Fords at the local plant is to be begun during the latter part of next month, Mr. Groves said.

Doctors Save Life of Baby SUCCESS CLIMAXES 24-HOUR BATTLE With Pulmotor and Oxygen

Chicago, January 12.—(United News)—Two prominent physicians announced today that a liver operation, 24 hours' work with a pulmotor, 19 tanks of oxygen and a blood transfusion probably had saved the life of Louis George Smith, who has been a part of this world for only 12 days.

The infant was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith New Year's day. The attending physician, Dr. D. J. Louis, ordered an operation on the child's liver Saturday. After the operation the child was taken home and failed to gain strength. Last night his mother called the physician and told him she was afraid the baby was dead.

A squad of firemen arrived with a lung motor and oxygen tanks. They worked in relays throughout the night to keep the baby alive.

Drs. I. A. Aht and Bernard Portis, specialists, were called into consultation this morning. They ordered blood transfusion with the mother as the donor. The child was taken to the hospital in an ambulance with firemen accompanying to keep the lung motor working.

The operation was successful and it was said the baby would live less complications developed.

Dakota City, Neb., January 12.—(AP)—A note signed "The Fox," and demanding $10,500 of Henry Johnson, a farmer, under a threat of death if the money were not forthcoming, has led to the arrest of Harry Stofles, laborer.

Stofles was arrested as he stopped at a mail box in front of the Johnson home where the farmer had been directed to place the money. Stofles carried a shotgun, but offered no resistance.

Police said Stofles admitted writing the note.

'LINDY' TO HOP OFF FOR VENEZUELA

Colon, Panama, January 12.—(P)—Venezuela, mentioned in history as the first mainland of America sighted by Christopher Columbus, is the next objective of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew from Panama City to Colon today, with the intention of taking off tomorrow for Caracas, the Venezuelan capital, or as near to that city as he can conveniently make a landing.

His farewell to President Chiari was said at Campo Lindbergh this morning and then he sailed away with all the best wishes of the people on that side of the isthmus, only to be greeted quite as enthusiastically on this side. He made a leisurely flight, taking in from his air the air of the great stream of the Panama Canal, which unites the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

About to be overtaken, the negro turned on his pursuers with an open knife, and inflicted minor cuts on Joe Most of 1439 Graham street, and John Dorsey, of 882 Dill avenue. Hubert Dobbs, of 1465 Banks street, and Frank Davis, of 1301 Hill avenue, aided in the capture. Special Officer R. H. Cleveland made the arrest.

Miss Miller is reported to be besieged in Ceylon by interviewers, photographers and literary agents, but is understood to have repulsed all approaches.

ENGLISH NOVELIST WILL BE INTERRED AT WESTMINSTER

London, January 12.—(P)—The highest honor in the gift of the British nation to a departed citizen—interment in Westminster Abbey, has been accorded Thomas Hardy, England's noted writer who died at his home in Dorchester yesterday. It was announced this evening that the burial in the abbey would take place Monday afternoon.

Acceptance of the honor coincides with the universal feeling of veneration for the dead poet and novelist. It is known, however, that Thomas Hardy himself would have desired simple burial in the little Dorset village churchyard, where lie the remains of his parents in the quiet village churchyard. Stinson, about 1.2 miles from Dorchester, is the "Melstock" of his Wessex novels.

HICKMAN TO SEEK CHANGE OF VENUE

Los Angeles, Calif., January 12.—(AP)—William Edward Hickman, facing public feeling over the kidnapping, killing and mutilating of Marian Parker, wants to face trial somewhere away from the scene of his confessed crimes.

Richard Cantillon, associated with Jerome Walsh, of Kansas City, in Hickman's defense, announced today that he would ask for a change of venue "because all Los Angeles county is biased and prejudiced against the defendant."

Cantillon said he would go into court tomorrow with his application to transfer Hickman's trial to another jurisdiction.

Attorneys of the district attorney's office and of the county jail where Hickman is confined, expressed the opinion that despite Cantillon's application, the trial would take place here.

cell last night. Usually a sound sleeper, he was reported by his guards to have alternately tossed restlessly and paced the floor until dawn, when apparently exhausted, he fell asleep.

The district federation of women's clubs decided to take no official recognition of the Hickman case. It refrained from endorsing the resolution of the Cosmos club, passed yesterday, protesting against "efforts to save this criminal." The district federation expressed the opinion that the courts would "mete out justice."

WILLIS TO ADMINISTER L. T. COOPER ESTATE

G. F. Willis, prominent Atlanta capitalist, has been named executor of the estate of the late L. T. Cooper, nationally known manufacturer of proprietary medicines and sportsman, of Dayton, Ohio, according to information just received in Atlanta.

Choice of Mr. Willis to assist in administration of Mr. Cooper's estate, estimated at between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000, is the outgrowth of a personal and business association between the two men which existed for many years. Together they were founders of International Proprietary, Inc., and the Zonite company, two of the most successful proprietary medicine corporations ever to enter the field.

In addition to his manufacturing interests, Mr. Cooper had extensive sporting interests, being the owner of a stable of fine horses valued at approximately $500,000. Many of his thoroughbreds held enviable records on American tracks. North America, Happy Time and Marconi were three of his best known horses.

Extensive holdings in Florida also were among the interests of Mr. Cooper, whose activities in that state were said to have been attended by exceptional success.

Mr. Willis is now in Dayton in connection with settlement of the estate.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.
External treatments seldom banish Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause. The cause is inside—the circulatory system. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacob's drug store, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

Anti-Kamnia

Quick Relief from Pains and Aches

Eggs Are Used To Camouflage Liquor Shipment

The weight of a crate of eggs is usually 58 pounds, and when two crates, each marked 106 pounds but weighing 154-152, arrived at Atlanta Friday, the express company became suspicious. Investigation by prohibition authorities on a call from the express company revealed six gallons of liquor in each crate.

The two crates were shipped to "H. K. Wilson" in Atlanta from "H. K. Wilson" in Elgin, but the name is believed fictitious, officers said. The eggs and liquor cans were securely packed, and not a drop of the contraband leaked, the detection coming solely from the suspicious weight of the crates. The liquor was confiscated, and the eggs were given to the express company to sell for the freight charges.

Albert Thomas, negro, of 374 Orange street, was a night "pick" when the Prohibition agent W. C. Alfred, City Officers Joe Allen and Eugene Head, and Deputy Sheriff Hollis called Friday. But Thomas' condition grew worse when the officers rolled his bed aside and disclosed two and a half gallons of whisky in a trap under the carpet, officers said.

The same officers located an unusual hiding place for liquor when they discovered a small amount of whisky behind a chimney on the roof of 452 Magnolia street, according to police. No arrests were made in this raid. The officers said that they sighted the cans from a nearby elevation and found the liquor was placed on the roof from a next door vacant building.

A truck gave up 25 gallons of liquor on Walker street, and the alleged driver, John Walker, was arrested by the officers on prohibition charges. In another raid, the officers found six gallons of whisky at 644 Lanier street. Maude Wheeler, negro, the occupant of the house, was arrested at 402 West Mitchell street with 19 gallons of liquor, officers said.

FORMAL ELECTION OF EUGENE R. BLACK TAKES PLACE TODAY

Formal election of Eugene R. Black, retiring president of the Atlanta Trust company, as governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, will take place today at the regular meeting of the directors of the institution.

At the directors' meeting in December, Mr. Black was the unanimous choice as successor to Governor M. B. Wellborn, who is retiring after 13 years' service. In order to coincide with elections in other reserve banks of the twelve federal districts, however, the formal election of the new governor was postponed until the January meeting.

CHINESE INMATES OF FEDERAL PRISON FACE DEPORTING

Jung Sing and Lee Kwong Nung, Chinese inmates of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, will appear before United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter at 2 o'clock this afternoon to answer charges of the federal immigration authorities that they are subject to deportation under the exclusion act. Federal Judge Samuel H. Siler signed a writ of habeas corpus Thursday directing that the prisoners be produced by the warden in commissioner's court.

While the two Chinese claim American citizenship, they are unable to offer proof of their claim, according to immigration officers. Both men claim they were born in San Francisco before the great earthquake, but that the records of their birth were destroyed in that disaster.

Help in "Home Work" Harmful to Pupils, School Officials Say

Excessive help from parents in the preparation of home lessons is generally a hindrance to school children, according to Miss Mary W. Postell, assistant superintendent of the Atlanta public school system. Miss Postell is warning in an address before the Spring Street Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium Wednesday.

The best pupils, Miss Postell declared, are those who receive only sufficient guidance in their studies to train them to study and think independently. She outlined various ways by which parents may cooperate with teachers in education and development of the children.

Mrs. Bartfield's class won the prize for the most mothers present at the meeting, which was largely attended and presided over by Mrs. Arthur Howell.

CHURCHES TO OBSERVE PASSAGE OF DRY LAW

Churches, Sunday schools and other organizations have been requested to make special observance on Sunday, January 15, of the eighth anniversary of the ratification of the prohibition amendment to the constitution of the United States.

The following Monday, January 16, since the 18th amendment was added.

The Women's Christian Temperance league and the Anti-Saloon league are backing the celebration in Georgia.

Former Congressman W. D. Upshaw, a leader in the dry movement, will make two addresses in Atlanta on the anniversary Sunday, speaking at the College Park Baptist church, of which the Rev. L. E. Roberts is pastor, at 11 a. m. and at the Gordon Street Baptist church, Dr. W. H. Faust, pastor, at 7 p. m.

15 ATLANTANS AID OGLETHORPE FUND

Fifteen leading Atlanta citizens have undertaken to raise the full quota of $250,000 asked in the endowment drive for Oglethorpe university. With $200,000 of this amount already in hand, the 15 have agreed to continue working and to hold daily luncheons.

This decision was reached in face of the fact that J. T. Lupton, Chattanooga capitalist, who has agreed to match the Atlanta contribution of $250,000, has stated that the $200,000 raised is satisfactory. Mr. Lupton states that he is willing to match, dollar for dollar, whatever total Atlanta gives, whether it is $200,000 or reaches the full quarter million.

Thus every subscription of $1 now made to the endowment fund for the local educational institution means $2 for the university.

The 15 indefatigable workers state that their luncheon reports each day are showing from $1,500 to $2,500 subscriptions and they are satisfied that there are many Atlantans willing to subscribe, if they can be reached.

The Constitution today is publishing a replica of the subscription blank which is being used and all who wish to subscribe, but who have not yet been approached, are asked to fill in the blank and mail it to President Thorne Jacobs at Oglethorpe university.

This campaign is not going to stop one penny short of the desired quota of $250,000, leaders among the workers stated Thursday and each of the 15, at Thursday's luncheon, asserted his confidence that the full amount would be reported pledged before the end of next week.

MASCOT JAY WARD WILL BE HONORED BY LEGION TODAY

Jay Ward, versatile entertainer at Keith's Georgia theater this week, will be guest of honor at the regular luncheon of the American Legion at the Henry Grady hotel today.

By virtue of his having been selected by the national committee of the legion as the recipient of much attention from the local post during his visit to Atlanta.

He was with the second expedition of the A. E. F. when the "buddies" met at the legion convention in Paris and was exceptionally popular with the veterans, having been adopted as the national mascot of the organization.

In addition to Master Ward legions will be entertained at the luncheon by a number of talented local dancers and singers. The entertainment program for the week is in charge of Senior Vice Commander Cap Joyner.

The regular monthly meeting of the post will be held Friday evening at the chamber of commerce hall No. 2 and all legionnaires are urged to attend as a number of important matters concerning the legionnaires' activities for 1928 will be discussed.

Jacksonville, Fla.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription" restored me to health when I had little prospect of ever getting well. I was suffering with feminine trouble which developed after motherhood. I was nervous, weak and all rundown and had such severe bearing pains that I could not straighten up. I doctored without getting relief and was told there was no help for me except thru an operation. This I would not consent to. Finally, upon the advice of a friend, I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. By the time I had taken one bottle I was able to get up. I kept up its use until I took about nine bottles in all and by that time my health was completely restored."—Mrs. M. E. Hanley, 1634 Clark St. (Picture above). All druggists.

Richard Halliburton Guest Of Presidents' Club Tonight

Probably the most fascinating figure of modern romantic life, Richard Halliburton, author, world traveler and lecturer, will be the honor guest of the Presidents' club of Atlanta at a banquet to be given at the Biltmore hotel tonight at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Halliburton is the author of two of the most popular travel books of the past decade, "The Royal Road to Romance" and "The Glorious Adventure." The first surpassed all literary records for works of its class and the second, which came from the press in the early summer of 1927, was fair to surpass the record of the first.

Mr. Halliburton, personifying the spirit of romantic, youthful adventure, has traveled the world over in his search for the colorful experiences which he is now passing to the general public through the medium of his books and his lectures.

Among other achievements, he swam the Hellespont, where Leander and Byron swam before him; he climbed Mount Olympus, the Stromboli, Mount Vesuvius and Mount Aetna; he ran the Marathon over its original course, and made a pilgrimage to the grave of that marvellous young English poet, Rupert Brooke, who is buried on a lonely Grecian isle.

Mr. Halliburton will arrive in Atlanta early this morning. He will be the guest of the executive committee of the Presidents' club at luncheon at the Athletic club and at 5 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn will give an "at home" in his honor at their residence, 921 Myrtle street, N. E.

The dinner tonight will be served in the Pompeian room at the Biltmore and will start promptly at 7 o'clock, after which Mr. Halliburton will deliver one of his famous lectures.

BOSTON PERSONNEL EXPERT WILL SPEAK ON CREDIT UNIONS

Formation and development of credit unions among employees of large firms will be the topic discussed by Joseph Campana, special representative of the Edward A. Filene Department store, large retailing establishment of Boston, before the Personnel association of Atlanta at 6 o'clock this evening in Rich's tearoom. Mr. Campana will speak as the representative of the Credit Union National Extension bureau.

Five men and women employment experts will discuss "Following Up the New Employee," as another feature of the meeting, according to the president. Each speaker is limited to ten minutes. The five will be L. P. Wilson, of the Davison-Pax company; Mrs. Louise Askey Griffin, of the Georgia College Placement bureau; W. L. Abbott, of Sears, Roebuck and company; Mrs. Ira Francis, of M. Rich and Brothers company, and Miss Louise Cockrell, of the Retail Credit company.

KEYNOTER SCORES G. O. P. 'OIL PLOT'

Washington, January 12.—(AP)—A ringing summons to democracy to return to the principles of Jefferson and Jackson was issued here tonight by Claude C. Bowers, of the New York World, in the keynote address at the Jackson day dinner arranged by the democratic national committee.

Speaking to leaders of the party from all sections of the country, Bowers, who is the author of several books on the lives and times of the founders of the democratic party, declared "the preservation of popular government and the subordination of money to men" was just as much an issue now as it was when Jackson rallied the people and won the presidency a century ago.

Assailing the Harding administration on the ground of corruption in high places and the Coolidge administration for what was termed aid to monopoly, Bowers said that if the democratic party stood today where Jackson and Jefferson always stood "for equal rights to all and special privilege to none" the party had its issue for the coming presidential campaign.

Points Out Issues.
"If it stands today where they stood against monopoly and autocracy, there is your issue," he added. "If it stands where they placed it for the rule of the majority and the greatest good to the greatest number, there is your issue."

"If it believes as these men believed that the debauchers of the ballot and the hucksters in high places selling the nation's integrity for a song and a bribe, pockets belong in the penitentiary and nowhere else, there is your issue."

"If it believes with them in democracy as against an oligarchy of the plutocracy, there is an issue that will mobilize the people and make them march with waving banners and the will to victory in their hearts."

"Six years ago the American people turned away from Monticello and the hermitage to worship for a while at the shrine of the best man in the little dove cot of the little green house on K street. That is the beginning of the most putrid period of our history."

Reed Calls for United Democracy to Switch Government Policies

Washington, January 12.—(AP)—A call for a united front of democracy to turn the government back to the principles of Jefferson and Jackson was issued tonight by Senator Reed Smoot, of Missouri, in his Jackson day dinner address.

"Our energies ought to be consolidated in the promulgation of those great doctrines of government upon which the democratic party was founded," he added. "Let us remember that if every democrat insists upon having his own way in all things, nobody will have his way in anything."

"We shall succeed if we proceed in wisdom. We shall fail if we disregard the principles of nature and the laws of the universe. We shall succeed if we subordinate great fundamentals to questions of expediency or exhaust our energies in disputes about problems upon which our own party as a whole is far from agreement."

Nation's Thought Changing.
"The sober thought of the nation is turning toward the old and sound principles which Jefferson so wisely laid down and which with unflinching fidelity our superb countrymen have maintained and defended."

"Those principles are as true today as they were when first proclaimed. Every departure has brought its brood of evils culminating in an era of corruption which has aroused the indignation of the people."

Recalls Teapot Dome.
"We saw the nation's oil reserve bartered away for a song and a bribe; and such has been the sagging of official moral standards that we saw men high in the state entrusted with the people's property and the people's honor, stand aside as indifferent spectators of the looting, until the party of Jackson, under the brilliant leadership of the senator from Montana (Thomas J. Walsh) exposed the infamy and forced the restitution of the nation's stolen goods."

"So complete has been the moral collapse that when, after the exposure of the scandals in the department of justice, the then attorney general offered his resignation in response to the demands of an outraged people, we had the humiliation to see it accepted with an expression of confidence and regret."

Liquor Home Rule Urged by Ritchie.
Washington, January 12.—(AP)—Settlement of the prohibition problem by self-determination and home rule, as opposed to increased centralization of authority in the federal government, was advocated by Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, tonight at the democratic Jackson day dinner.

Once the absorbing question was whether federal power should be supreme within the federal sphere, or whether the states could nullify them," said Ritchie. "Now," he added, "the question is whether we shall have supreme in the state sphere, or whether the federal government shall nullify them."

Pays Tribute to Smith.
The Maryland governor paid high tribute to Governor Smith, of New York, declaring the masses "sense that there is an authentic voice, not only of the democratic party, but of the democracy of the nation, too."

Governor Ritchie opposed nullification of the education of the young through a federal department of education and a national child labor law on the same ground upon which he objected to the present prohibition law. He said he would "rather trust the people of the states to enact humane and effective laws on both these subjects which will meet their diversified needs."

The governor denied statements that the democrats had no leaders. "I see plenty of them around me tonight, local democrats and competent," he said, "and after all, in the case of any real leader fit to sit in high position, the ultimate test is not what may be his views on this or that current question, most certainly it is not what may be his religious creed."

JACKSON DAY DINNER PARTY LOVE FEAST

think we should agree that the membership of a man in any cause should not be considered as a test of his fitness to be the party's standard bearer.

At the outset, Davis emphasized that he did not intend to indulge in a controversial discussion, adding that also he meant no reflection on Governor Ritchie, "for whom I have the highest respect and admiration."

It was noted, however, that as he defined the position of each camp the audience divided in applauding his remarks, but when he concluded the crowd arose and applauded.

Smith Letter Read.
The letter from Governor Smith in which he urged the democratic party to meet all issues without equivocation was read by former Lieutenant Governor Lunn, of New York. William G. McAdoo leaned forward to hear the communication from his adversary in the 1924 deadlock. There was a hush over the vast arena as the reading continued, but when Lunn announced that it was signed by "Alfred E. Smith," the crowd came to its feet with cheers.

McAdoo sat still for a moment, then he, too, arose, smiling at the cheering and applauding continued.

The Smith letter was read before Davis and Ritchie brought up the prohibition question, which Davis passed over by introducing Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, and Governor Bowers, the first democratic governor of South Dakota. The latter, the latter, from others in that he began in a humorous vein. The contrast apparently relieved the tense atmosphere which had prevailed with the unexpected pronouncement of Davis on prohibition.

Bulow then referred to farm relief, opposing the McNary-Haugen bill but advocating an equalization of opportunity between the business man and the farmer. His suggestion was for a tariff on agricultural products equal to that on industrial products.

Dan Moody, Texas' governor, declared that when the people of Texas read in the papers tomorrow that the democrats will hold their next convention in Houston "one million democrats will throw the paper against the ceiling and 25,000 republicans will drop it to the floor."

Turning to the problems of the day, Moody called for equalized tariff and reduced transportation rates as aids to agriculture. He also called for better administration of the federal reserve act.

Moody, too, touched on prohibition, drawing applause when he said that the republican party must be held responsible for failure to enforce the eighteenth amendment.

Talk about the repeal of the eighteenth amendment," Moody said, "you might as well talk about the repeal of the Golden Rule or the Ten Commandments."

That was greeted by cheers and applause.

"But here's one thing all democrats can agree upon: The eighteenth amendment is the law and the law must be enforced."

McAdoo got a rising round of applause as he was introduced by Davis last night. He stuck to his text exactly, terming himself an "ex-candidate" and declining to give the party any advice except that it learn the lesson of Jackson's "courage, his integrity, his unswerving adherence to principle."

He got another ovation as he concluded.

Warned Against Division.
Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic leader in the house, warned the democrats to beware of the efforts of the enemy again to divide their ranks.

"These enemies, watchful and adroit, are masters of political warfare," he said. "They understand frontal attack and flank movement when to strike and when to give the counterstroke. The value of espionage they learned long ago, and above all things, they appreciate the importance of creating discussions and divisions in democracy's forces, and we have shown ourselves all too prone to divide."

"Is it possible that a great party grounded in tradition so glorious, a great party which has written nearly every permanent chapter of American law, again is to fall a victim to its own folly and blither about non-essentials, fight with passionate abandon over imaginary goblins and academic abstractions, and forget the substance which challenges our bravest and best? Heaven forbid!"

Claude C. Bowers, Jefferson and Jackson historian, stirred the audience to high pitches of enthusiasm as he denounced corruption in high places and the sale of public offices.

As Bowers, with vigor and fervor paid tribute to Thomas J. Walsh, of his service in exposing the naval scandals, the banquets arose and applauded the Montana senator for a minute. He finally was obliged to arise and bow.

The quips of Bowers about Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and the bartering of offices kept the audience in almost continued uproar. Calling upon the men he said were carrying the brunt of the battle on the front, Davis presented Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader in the senate.

Praising his colleagues, Robinson told the audience that the minority had demonstrated that it could control the affairs in the senate.

"We aim to expose the inefficiency and corruption which has disgraced the present and the preceding administration," Robinson declared amid an outburst of applause.

The Arkansas senator said the party could write a platform on which all democrats could stand and could nominate a candidate upon whom all could unite.

John W. Davis, standard bearer in 1924 and tomorrow night, received a warm welcome as he and Mrs. Davis took their places. Davis sat to the left of Mrs. Wilson with Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic leader to the house, on her right.

Governor Ritchie of Maryland likewise rounds of applause.

McAdoo's entrance was dramatic, just as the camera men were preparing to take a picture of the diners. The one time secretary of the treasury and a formidable contender for the democratic presidential nomination in 1920 and 1924, received some applause as he hurried to his place at the speakers' table.

Chairman Shaver was not at the speakers' table.

It was announced that 1,348 guests were gathered about the tables.

tion and awakened the fears of all thoughtful men.

"It is the high duty of the democratic party to meet the crisis and fulfill the hopes of the people."

"The business of free government is to protect the liberty of the citizen, Senator Reed asserted there has been a disregard of the central purpose of government that law has been piled upon law and the land is overrun with agents, spies and informers, all constituting an immense and in many instances an odious un-American cantabulary."

Under the heading of the rights of citizens, Missouri senator declared he would place at its head "liberty of conscience."

Urges Equality for All.
"Liberty of conscience," he went on, "is the narrow sense that a man may worship without punishment by the authorities, but in the broad implication that no man is to be subjected to any kind of punishment, obloquy or disgrace because of his faith."

"To all men of all creeds exact equality is to be accorded, and neither in private life nor in public office is the free citizen of America to be placed, on account of his religion, under the ban, impair that doctrine in the slightest degree and the temple of liberty its central supporting pillar."

The quips of Bowers about Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and the bartering of offices kept the audience in almost continued uproar. Calling upon the men he said were carrying the brunt of the battle on the front, Davis presented Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the democratic leader in the senate.

Praising his colleagues, Robinson told the audience that the minority had demonstrated that it could control the affairs in the senate.

"We aim to expose the inefficiency and corruption which has disgraced the present and the preceding administration," Robinson declared amid an outburst of applause.

The Arkansas senator said the party could write a platform on which all democrats could stand and could nominate a candidate upon whom all could unite.

John W. Davis, standard bearer in 1924 and tomorrow night, received a warm welcome as he and Mrs. Davis took their places. Davis sat to the left of Mrs. Wilson with Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic leader to the house, on her right.

Governor Ritchie of Maryland likewise rounds of applause.

McAdoo's entrance was dramatic, just as the camera men were preparing to take a picture of the diners. The one time secretary of the treasury and a formidable contender for the democratic presidential nomination in 1920 and 1924, received some applause as he hurried to his place at the speakers' table.

Chairman Shaver was not at the speakers' table.

It was announced that 1,348 guests were gathered about the tables.

HOOSIER DEMANDS SHAKEUP IN TARIFF

Washington, January 12.—(AP)—A warning against giving the democratic party a "dose of bigotry" was sounded at the Jackson day dinner here tonight by Evans Woolen, of Indiana, an avowed candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Woolen also defined war on the Fordney-McCumber tariff as a part of the democratic policy, proposing a comprehensive substitution of a moderate tariff act for the present moderate act and, thereafter, slowly progressive reduction in the tariff of revenue duty.

"The dumber has a lot of work to do," he said. "Traditionally haters of bigotry and repression, defenders of freedom of speech, press, religion, democratic cannot tolerate the denial of office on the ground of religious affiliations. Neither can they tolerate the advocacy of any man for office on the ground of religious affiliation."

People Not Represented.
The Indianan charged that since the war there had been "a growing sense of feeling in the hearts of the common folk of America, that they are not represented actually and effectively by those in control of the national government." As one means of alleviating the condition he said existed, Woolen proposed a paring down of the tariff.

No one proposes to jump from protection to free trade," he continued. "Whatever one may think of protection, he must, if he be realist as well as idealist, recognize that the system has been long established in this country and that vested interests are involved. What the democratic party does propose is tariff duties whose purpose is effective competition between foreign and domestic producers, duties in the making of which the voice of the American consumer shall be regarded as well as those still, small, insistent voices of privilege."

Backs Self-Government.
The usefulness of the democratic party, said Woolen, lies, "not in behind-the-door intrigues of bigots or sectionalists or privilege seekers, but in the maintenance of an open door through which there shall be welcomed to the household all those who believe that the American people, still capable of self-government, are in no need of guardianship by the few who believe that the national well-being is based on the wisdom of the republican party but on the bounty of God and the genius of our people."

"Those who believe, unitedly embattled under the banner of faith in the plain people," he concluded, "can never mightily—triumphantly I am persuaded—for minimum government, home rule, freedom from privilege, international good-will."

HOUSTON CHEERS

NEWS OF VICTORY

Houston, Texas, January 12.—(United News.)—Scarcely had word been received that Houston had been selected for the national democratic convention when the preparations were started here to entertain and care for the delegates.

The convention will be held in the city auditorium, which seats 5,000 persons. There is an orchestra sufficient to seat delegates, leaving other sections for observers and writers. The auditorium is equipped with loud speakers and provisions are being made for telegraph and telephone lines.

18 Railroads and 63 Steamship Lines Come Here.
Eighteen railroads and 63 steamship lines come here. A new airport has been opened. The recent American Rylander association convention was held here as was the international meeting of advertisers in 1925. It was only 15 years ago that the first ocean-going steamship smacked its way up 50 miles of muddy waterway to dock at Houston's man-made port.

Victory Celebrated by Crowd.
Remembrance celebrated today when the word was flashed of the obtaining of the convention.

The news spread that the city, growing from squaking shacks to full dress of a metropolis, was to be the democratic hosts. The streets filled with cheering throngs.

Reorganization and officials started to work immediately preparing for Texas' first national democratic convention.

You Can Win $2,000.00

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S "COW" FIGURE GAME

$2,000.00 First Prize — $1,000.00 Second Prize — $500.00 Third Prize

Twenty-five Cash Prizes in All—Amounting to $4,515.00

$500.00 Extra First Prize for Promptness

This is your opportunity to use your spare time to advantage. These big cash prizes are going to be given away to the lucky winners, and no one has a better chance than you if you will only make the proper effort. The object of the game is to see how much you can make the "COW" weigh by filling inside of the border representing the cow with figures "9's." Now isn't that simple?

How many times can you write by hand, using a lead pencil, the figure "9" inside the border forming the cow outline? The sum total of the number of the "9's" that you put in the cow picture will represent your answer or what you give as the weight of the cow. For example twenty "9's" will be 180 pounds; one hundred "9's" would be 900 pounds, etc. Can you write in one hundred "9's," two hundred, or how many? The person having the greatest number of "9's," that is, the largest sum total, will win first prize, second largest second prize, etc.

NOTE: While there are three cow pictures given in this announcement, as a contestant may have plenty of material to work on, only one cow picture is to be submitted with a solution.

NOTE: Write your name and complete address plainly on the white margin in front of the cow.

How Much Can You Make the "Cow" Weigh?

THAT'S THE PROBLEM!

TRY YOUR HAND AT IT BY WRITING THE FIGURE "9" AS MANY TIMES AS YOU CAN INSIDE THE BORDERLINE OF THE "COW."

When you have them all written in, add them. That will give you your answer to "How Much Can You Make the Cow Weigh." Every "9" stands for 9 pounds, and the total of "9's" you have written in the cow space is your weight record.

Begin now on the game by clipping out the "cow" picture and start with lead pencil to filling in with the figure "9." You will find it absorbing fun, and every "9" that you write in the "cow" figure takes you further on your way to the big cash prizes that are to be given.

Be sure that the "9's" do not touch each other, nor touch the border of the cow. You may have additional copies of the "cow" picture by writing to the Cow Contest Dept., inclosing a stamped return envelope. The extra copies, however, will be on the same grade of paper as this is printed on.

You have a chance to earn $35.00, $250.00, $1,000.00 or $2,000.00, as explained and shown in the Prize List, and $500.00 extra for promptness.

How to Win $2,000.00

It is not necessary to send a subscription, but by qualifying your entry into "How much can you make the cow weigh" game with one or two subscriptions, you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, the first prize is $35.00, but if winners of first prize has qualified with one six months' subscription, the prize will be $250.00 instead of $35.00. If qualified with one year's subscription the prize will be $1,000.00 instead of $35.00; or if qualified with two annual subscriptions the prize would be $2,000.00 instead of $35.00, and so on with proportional increases throughout the entire prize list. In all there are 25 prizes, as shown in this announcement.

$35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize (the person having the largest sum total in the cow picture) if no subscription is sent to the daily and Sunday Constitution.

$250.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal, second prize $200.00, third prize $100.00, etc. (See second column in prize list.)

$1,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one annual subscription, new or renewal, to the daily and Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50 remittance; second prize $500.00, third prize $250.00, etc. (See third column in prize list.)

$2,000.00 instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize, provided two yearly subscriptions to the daily and Sunday Constitution are sent, one of which must be new, at $9.50 each, total remittance $19.00, second prize $1,000.00, third prize $500.00, etc. (See last column in prize list.) Be sure to write your qualifying subscription on a separate sheet of paper from the "cow" picture, giving your name and address as well as the name and address of each subscriber. Remittance should be sent by money order, personal check or bank check. Currency should always be registered.

Observe These General Rules of the Contest:

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families.
2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the three amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered, a solution cannot be changed.
3. The first prize will be awarded to the person having the greatest sum total, which is to be determined by the sum of the figures "9" written in the space designated inside of the border forming the picture representing the cow; to the second greatest total second prize, third greatest total third prize, etc.
4. Any lead pencil may be used. All writing or drawing pens of artists or engineers or their like are barred, as ink cannot be used on this grade of paper without blurring. The figures "9" need not be perfect in shape, but must be complete. Write as small as you like with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make—just so each "9" is fully shaped. Figures cannot touch each other, nor are they permitted to touch any part of the borderline forming the shape of the cow.
5. Copperplate type, shorthand, reproductions or reductions are barred, also duplicates of the original. Every "9" must actually be made by hand with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make, and must be discernible to the naked eye, meaning clear and distinct to a person of average good eyesight or equivalent. The natural eye by those who do not wear glasses, and ordinary reading glasses by those who wear glasses only guide allowed in filling in the figure "9." A "9" with either straight or curved tail is permissible.
6. Every contestant must give the correct total of the weight of the cow in the answer submitted by him. Incorrect statement disqualifies the solution. This weight of course is the sum total of the "9's" he has written in the figure representing the cow. This is important! Your name and complete address must be plainly written on margin of sheet on which your answer is given, or blank printed for that purpose, or a blank of your own selection attached hereto.

7. In case of tie, while there is hardly a chance in 10,000 of a tie, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions, another puzzle will be submitted to those tied on the same order of this one, except a smaller "cow" picture, after which should still result each contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

8. Only one prize will be awarded to a person, household, or group of persons. Any person or household or group of persons submitting duplicates are barred.

9. The decision of The Atlanta Constitution must be accepted as final and conclusive in all matters, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decision of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.

10. The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right to reject at any time any contestant whom it believes has violated the rules. The solution of the winner of first prize will be reproduced in The Constitution, together with the published result which will be published as soon as possible after the closing date of the contest.

11. All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless as to whether or not a subscription for the daily and Sunday Constitution be sent in.

12. The contest is open to new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $5.00 for six months' subscription or $9.50 for 12 months' subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions or Tri Weekly subscriptions not acceptable in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent, postmaster, or otherwise no commission can be deducted. In column 2 of prize list six months' subscription there referred to can be either new or renewal; column

3, 12 months' subscription $9.50, can be either new or renewal. Column 4, requiring two annual subscriptions, one can be a renewal, but one must be new. A new subscription means one who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly through any source, and has not within the past 60 days.

13. Subscriptions secured by the means of this contest in Atlanta and suburbs will be delivered by carrier service. In towns outside of Atlanta, where The Constitution has carrier delivery service, the paper may be delivered by carrier, upon request of the subscriber or contestant; otherwise the paper will be sent by mail.

14. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying the carrier or agent by the week or month, or otherwise, may send or bring directly to The Constitution a six or twelve months' payment to qualify a solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent at that time must be paid to him as the remittance sent us will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payments. If all arrearages are not paid the solution may not be considered valid. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present paid date of expiration. All qualifying subscriptions in this contest must be paid in advance.

15. Contest closes Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. All solutions delivered in person must be at The Constitution office by 9:00 p. m. of that date, but may be mailed any time before midnight. Solutions mailed at any post office in Georgia and adjoining states bearing postmark of no later date than midnight February 8th, 1928, will be accepted if rules governing same are complied with. The contest extends from Wednesday, January 4th, 1928, to and including Wednesday, February 8th, 1928. Five days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger prizes to do so, after which no further qualification remittances will be accepted.

The above rules are simple, easy to understand, and are all the information that can be given on the contest except that which appears in the announcement of which this is a part.

If you find that you can make the cow weigh more than the first solution which you sent, the only thing you can do is to send in another solution, which must be qualified independent of the first solution submitted. In other words, the qualification of one solution already submitted cannot be transferred to a later solution.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER!

While the amount you pay with the solution does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

Address your solution, remittances, etc., to the Contest Manager, Daily Circulation Dept., The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Because She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible thru the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was a complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work.

strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes, "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 113 Willow St., Silverton, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

TAPS AND REVEILLE!

TAPS sounded for the old J. P. Allen store on Whitehall at 5 o'clock Thursday evening. Its doors are closed with finality, and today and Saturday the great move which takes the organization from its present site up to Peachtree will be consummated.

Gone the spirit and substance from the old location, where for 20 years the J. P. Allen company has stood. Only the shell remains—silent—still, echoing the noises of the street. Empty.

After Taps comes Reveille—in the morning! With the dawning of a new week, J. P. Allen's, having moved onward and up into the heart of Atlanta's new shopping district on Peachtree and Cain, opens the doors of its new building at 10:30 o'clock on Monday morning, January 16th!

The element of sadness remains—but it is down on Whitehall. Up Peachtree way, at Cain, there is suddenly new life! The old changeth—Allen's has moved onward in the inevitable march of Atlanta's progress—and the store all women know will continue its long service to the world in its new, beautiful and practical location, beginning Monday morning!

General Federation Plans Birth Registration Areas

Washington, January 12.—(A)—Efficient prison labor and establishment of birth registration areas in all states were urged today by committee chairmen at a session of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"We will put the support of all club women in the country back of our efforts to have every state in the birth registration area by 1930," Mrs. Walter M. Miller, chairman of the public welfare committee said. "We are also backing all mothers' pension and child labor laws, in addition to the pending prison labor bill which will give all prisoners employment through which they may reimburse the state for the expense of their maintenance."

Vice President Davies in an address to the women urged them to continue their work in bringing out the women's vote, saying that in 1921 only 52 per cent of the voters of the country availed themselves of that privilege.

FILLING STATION HELD NOT PUBLIC 'NUISANCE'

"A filling station is not, per se, a nuisance," the state supreme court has ruled in reversing the decision of a case appealed from Mitchell county superior court.

A committee from the board present at the committee hearing in both house and senate on the Capper-Ketchum bill in order to keep the body informed was pleased to know that the amendment asked for by the federation was agreed to by leaders.

One thousand new subscribers to the Federation News and 30 clubs with 100 per cent subscribers were reported.

The club at Round Oak, Ga., received honorable mention in the list of clubs in outstanding achievements, and answers to the questionnaires sent in.

by the clubs chronicling achievements were astounding.

Mrs. Sherman, in her report, gave proof which, she says, furnishes testimony of the federation's efforts against the government through efforts to reach women and children.

Tallahassee Industrial school in the mountains of north Georgia was described at the meeting by the director, Mrs. Richardson, giving a splendid report of this institution. INTERESTING ANGLES ON FASCINATING CORNERS IN THE NEW J. P. ALLEN STORE

"Oh, London is a man's town,
There's power in the air—
But Paris is a woman's town—
With flowers in her hair."

ONE strolls the streets of Paris, drinking the morning air fragrant with the perfume of chestnut blossoms. It is intoxicating—and the exhilaration of adventure is in the blood—thrilling discoveries are imminent. One turns a corner—aplomb—one encounters all of a sudden a strange, enchanting little shop.

Surprise, delight, "tres chic!" Its individuality is charming, and its personality as wonderful as a child's, as winsome. Something for a Balzac to write of—or a Dumas. It is filled with the most adorable things—gloves, handkerchiefs, trinkets, handbags that have the flavor and the savor that are French—call it Gallic salt or the Air Francaise. It is utterly feminine.

Such incidents make shopping in Paris the gorgeous delight that memory embroiders in mellow richness years afterward.

It is similar shops and little corners that one will find in this New Allen Store.

It may be the Baby Room with the irresistible appeal of the demure and the diminutive.

Or the French Rooms with subdued satin lights, where the glowing creations of Paris are shown.

Or the Spanish Shoe Salon, done with the flash, fire and dark, opulent beauty of Old Spain, evoking the spirit of Carmen.

Throughout and everywhere the often stifled but universal human craving for beauty is satisfied. No store South is like it, as indeed no store South could be like it.

At last, Beauty and Business are hand-maidens, in Atlanta!

I HAVE SAID IN MY HEART

BY IDAH M'GLONE GIBSON.

CLOTHES.

From where I sit on the sidelines of life watching the procession of all kinds of women and men going by, I thought I had seen everything that clothes—or the lack of them—could do for a woman. Lately, however, I have had a still greater illustration of the influence of dress than ever before. The other day I met for the first time in many years a friend of my youth. As a very young girl and later as a young married woman, she never had any claim to beauty. Her clothes always lacked personality and style. They were most conservative in cut and color. Economy seemed to have been the first consideration of their purchase and wearable qualities the second, being clothed the third—after that, nothing.

Because she was somewhat colorless she seemed to think that color was not for her, or at least that is what her friends concluded as they were confronted year after year with serviceable black or dark blue costumes which made her tall, New England form look spare and gaunt, her hair and eyes dull and her complexion nondescript. She was the kind of person at whom no one would look the second time, consequently she did not make friends easily and in any lost the pleasure of her keen wit and splendid common sense because of her uninteresting appearance.

Now all is changed. At a restaurant dinner recently she was by far the most distinguished looking woman at the table.

What had caused this metamorphosis? She was older; her face had taken on the lines of middle age; she was as thin and tall as ever. Nothing in her bearing, her manner, her lines or her coloring had changed except her clothes, and yet she was stunning.

A dull blue georgette dinner dress embroidered with silver beads brought out the blue in her gray-blue eyes. They struck you as being colorful where they had been colorless.

A darker blue hat, brought well down upon her head, shadowed a complexion which seemed more noticeable in its delicate blonde make-up than it had ever been in her flaunting youth. This was enhanced by sparkling crystal and jet ear-drops. She was hauntingly beautiful. Your eyes were carried irresistibly back to her again and again.

And it was all clothes. She had dared for once to wear the individual thing.

Because she knew she looked well she moved with a surety of stately grace. She had found herself, and it was all because of a dull blue georgette gown, a pair of long jet and crystal earrings, and a necklace that added the needed brilliancy to her personality.

Look among your friends and you will usually find that the women who are called beautiful are the ones who dress beautifully.

One may talk of wonderful hair, of soulful eyes, of exquisite complexion, but unless these are enhanced by becoming clothes they will go unnoticed.

Memo: "Beauty unadorned adorned the most," is another one of those adages that sound well and mean nothing.

JUDGE PROVES THAT HE KNOWS WHO OWNS HER

The Treaty of Washington, 1871.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN 1871 AN ATTEMPT WAS MADE TO SETTLE THE DISPUTE OVER THE RIGHTS OF AMERICAN
FISHERMEN IN CANADIAN WATERS. IN 1877,
A JOINT COMMISSION MEETING IN HALIFAX,
N. S., DECIDED THAT WE SHOULD PAY CANADA
$5,500,000 FOR CERTAIN RIGHTS FOR 12 YEARS.
THE MONEY WAS PAID, BUT WHEN THE TIME EXPIRED THE UNITED STATES REFUSED TO PROLONG THE ARRANGEMENT.

ANOTHER QUESTION TO BE SETTLED WAS THAT OF THE EXACT BOUNDARY BETWEEN THE
STATE OF WASHINGTON AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.
BOTH THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA
CLAIMED SAN JUAN ISLAND, WHICH LIES BETWEEN VANCOUVER ISLAND AND THE MAIN-LAND, AND THE DISPUTE WAS SUBMITTED FOR SETTLEMENT TO THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY.

IN 1872 THE EMPEROR RENDERED A DE-CISION FAVORABLE TO THE UNITED STATES.
THE BOUNDARY LINE RUNNING FROM THE MAIN-LAND, AROUND VANCOUVER ISLAND, THROUGH THE STRAIT OF JUAN DE FUCA TO THE PACIFIC
WAS ESTABLISHED, GIVING SAN JUAN ISLAND TO THE UNITED STATES.

WIDOW OF SLAIN MAN INDICTED BY OHIO JURY

Painesville, Ohio, January 12.—(P)—Mrs. Yelma West, 21-year-old widow of slain man, was indicted by a grand jury today when the Lake county grand jury indicted her on charge of first-degree murder.

The widow of the Perry, Ohio, nurseryman was informed of the degree of the charge against her by her attorneys, Richard Bostwick and Francis W. Poulson, who visited her in her cell in the Lake county jail. She expressed surprise but made no other comment. Prosecutor Seth Paulin indicated he will demand the extreme penalty for Mrs. West when she is brought to trial.

She probably will be arraigned Saturday before Common Pleas Judge Arlington G. Reynolds.

HARRISON NARCOTIC ACT UNDER FIRE IN SUPREME COURT

Washington, January 12.—(P)—The constitutionality of the order form section of the Harrison antinarcotic act, an important feature in the enforcement of the law, was attacked today in the supreme court.

Presented in two cases brought by Frank Nigro, of Kansas City, Mo., and Thomas J. Casey, a Seattle, Wash., lawyer, both convicted of violating the act, Solicitor General Mitchell directed a carefully prepared argument to sustain the provision.

The section requires an order on a form prescribed by the government for all sales of narcotics.

Flood Wipes Out City.
Rio Janeiro, January 2.—(P)—The city of Diamantina, state of Minas Geraes, Brazil, has been wiped out by floods, say reports reaching here.

NEW HEAD NAMED BY SEARS-ROEBUCK

Chicago, January 12.—(P)—General R. E. Wood, a vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has been elected president of the mail order house to succeed the late Charles M. Kirtle.

General Wood has been vice president in charge of retail stores and factory operations of the company since he became connected with it in November, 1924. He had previously been in merchandising and was purchasing officer of the emergency floor masters' department of the United States army.

The new president was born in Kansas City, Mo., June 13, 1879. He was graduated from West Point in 1900 and served as lieutenant of cavalry in the Philippine Islands during the insurrection in 1900 to 1902. From 1903 until 1905 he was instructor at West Point and in March, 1905, went to the Isthmus of Panama, where he served until 1915, when he retired from army service.

He reentered the service again as major after the declaration of war against Germany and was general purchasing officer of the emergency floor corporation. He also served in France with the 42d division as colonel of infantry at the general headquarters in France, and was later in charge of army transport service, being promoted to brigadier general. He was awarded a distinguished service medal in 1919, 1919, and was later in charge of the army in 1919 and returned to civil life.

Mr. Rosenwald also announced that O. C. Downing, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in charge of operations, had resigned.

NEW PRESIDENT WELL KNOWN HERE.
Indications that the election of General R. E. Wood to presidency of Sears, Roebuck & Co. would bring this huge commercial organization into even closer personal contact with Georgia were seen in reports at the Atlanta branch, on Ponce de Leon avenue, of General Wood's promotion. According to Sears, Roebuck & Co. officials here, General Wood has spent much of his time in the south, making frequent visits to this section. Mrs. Wood is a member of the well-known Hardwick family of Augusta, and a cousin to the former governor of Georgia and United States senator, Thomas Hardwick. Both she and her husband have a wide circle of friends in Augusta, as well as in Atlanta.

General Wood was among the executives who visited Atlanta at the opening of the branch plant on Ponce de Leon avenue. At this time he also made an inspection tour of his property holdings in Georgia, which is looked upon as another tie between the noted commercial figure and this section.

DR. JOHN C. OLMSTEAD IS LAID TO FINAL REST
Funeral services for Dr. John C. Olmstead, 75, former prominent Atlanta physician, who died Friday at his home in Rhinebeck, N. Y., were held Thursday morning from the graveside in Oakland cemetery. Dean Thomas M. Johnston officiated.

Notice.
The Southern Railway Company will sell under Section IV (b) of bill of lading on Wednesday, January 18th, 1928, unless all charges are previously paid, 45 25-pound sacks of flour shipped by Middle Tennessee Milling Company, Tullahoma, Tenn., in their order, notify J. W. Moten, Arizona, Ga.

Author Will Sign His Name in Books at Davison-Paxon
Richard Halliburton, popular young author-adventurer who is to arrive in Atlanta this morning, will visit the book department of Davison-Paxon company from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, where he will autograph copies of his books, "The Royal Road to Romance" and "Glorious Adventure" for Atlantes purchasing them at any time during the day, officials of Davison-Paxon company announced Thursday.

Mr. Halliburton is a young romanticist, whose adventures form the subject of many of his interesting books. It is said that Mr. Halliburton found life among his schoolmates at Princeton over-boring with "sanity, consistency and respectability" and left for a life of adventure.

Raleigh, N. C., January 12.—(P)—Because he alleged he was injured to the extent of $2,500, he tripped and fell over an old landmark on a sidewalk in Wake Forest, N. C. Horton, mill operative of the college town, today entered suit against the town authorities for that sum.

Horton contends the town officials were negligent in allowing a man to protrude to protrude over the ground as a menace to public safety.
